Foreword

"The true test of civilization is not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops—no, but the kind of man the country turns out . . ."

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Education, we are told, is to the soul what sculpture is to a block of marble. Teachers cannot hope to have their students retain forever history's dates, literature's allusions, the fine points of science. Rather they have the task of molding citizenship through the development of habits, attitudes, and ideals.

The backbone of America's greatness is her impressive educational system—her schools, the development of moral and spiritual values through her churches, hard work and persistence through the lifelong school of "hard knocks."

In composing the 1954 Tamarack, we have tried to create a volume of remembrance for those who shall remain here, for those who are leaving to pursue higher education, and for those who are enrolling in the school of life—endeavoring to paint, through the talents of the written word and the brushes of art and photography, a living panorama of memories from a great school year.

SCHOOL BOARD — Seated around the table: George E. Fallquist, Dr. G. Burwell Mann,

ONCE MORE, with the end of the school year, June 4, 1954, another section of a great panorama moves beyond our vision. The class of June, 1954, has gone on to greater opportunities and sterner responsibilities.

By now its members are beginning to realize how much they really enjoyed their school years. Those who enjoyed the challenge of learning and the pleasures of school friendships will enjoy the years to come. That's the way life is! Our good wishes follow them all.

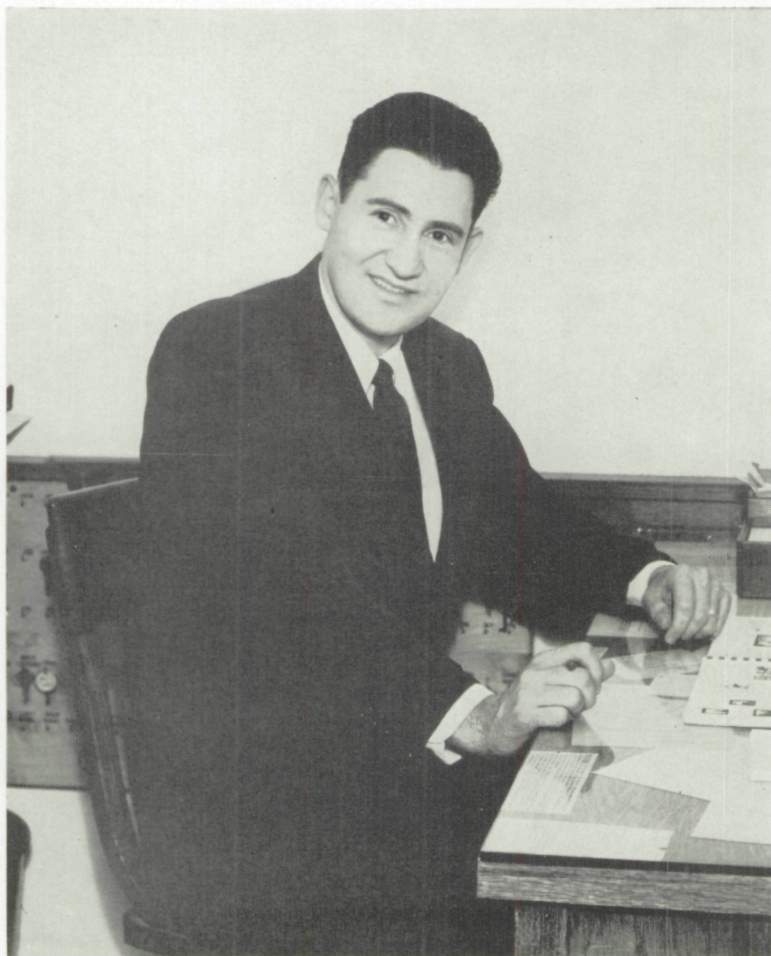

But the Tamarack editors are not satisfied with felicitations. They have asked a "message." Here it is: The person who places what he WANTS to do above what he SHOULD do, is his own worst foe. It is of tremendous importance to triumph over self.

How desperately America, 1954, needs to follow a stern course of self-discipline, to bend its efforts toward character and spiritual values! It's a task which can begin only on an individual basis. It's a challenge which points to a life worth living.

May you live all the days of your life!

Girls' League works to advance ideals.

Girls . . . Girls . . . Girls . . .
Every North Central girl belongs to the Girls' League. Originated in 1918 by Miss Jessie Gibson, the organization strives to attain the ideals of honor, service, and loyalty as symbolized on the League pin by the American flag, a young girl's face, and the Red Cross flag.

Central Council, the ruling body of League, is composed of home room representatives and elected officers, and directs the semester's activities.

Sponsoring the P.-T. A. membership drive is an annual project of the League. Dads and daughters scored record-breaking numbers at the annual banquet in November. Earlier in the fall the freshman party was given. Christmas and Thanksgiving baskets were sent to the needy.

A girl may earn League points by services to the school and by having at least C grades. Those having 50, 175, 325, and 475 points receive honorable mention; 100 points earns a bronze pin; 250, silver; 400,

Annual spring style show, vocational convocations, awarding of League pins, Mothers' Tea, and the appointment of Big Cousins who will counsel new girls entering North Central in the fall are among the many activities of the spring semester.

Annual Cotton Day was sponsored by the League on April 15. A Cotton Day evening mixer highlighted the event.

Speakers representing various careers and occupations were invited to vocational convocations. This year the vocational convocations were presented for the benefit of the boys as well as the girls. A mixer was held in March to secure funds for pins.

League Sextet is made up of senior girls who are on call for special occasions.

Four Federation departments guarantee

Organized to promote cooperative activities involving all boys of North Central, the Boys' Federation has been under the direction of Lowell C. Bradford for the past 36 years. The executive committee meets weekly and transacts the business of the organization. To train members in civic duties, the Federation patterns its elections after those of the city.

Highlight of the fall semester was the annual Boys' Stag, giving the new boys of the school an opportunity to get better acquainted. Also featured were several special convocations including the Fisher Body and wrestling demonstrations.

The Federation sponsors the Archie Buckley Inspirational Award, which is presented annually to the football player who in word and picture, record of past year.

Annette Anderson was advertising and business manager. Harry Quinn was head staff photographer with Carl Toombs as assistant. George A. Smith was faculty adviser for photography.

A three-week sales campaign was conducted during November with Goldie Long as campaign manager. The sale was conducted through Tamarack representatives in the home room. Members of the Tamarack staff, The News staff, and the journalism one class, who were floor collectors, contributed much time and effort to the success of the campaign.

Don Townsend, head of the print shop, was printing adviser of the book and the Spokane American Engraving did the engraving work. Miss McKenna was general director and co-ordinated work of the editorial, photography, art, and business staffs.

In the past three years, the Tamarack has won two Medalist Awards, the highest award given by the Columbia University Press Association of which the Tamarack is a member.

Boards govern awards and conduct.

"Wow, look at that letter he's wearing." Appointed by the student body each semester, the very important Honors Board decides what students are qualified to wear school letters and receive the coveted athletic and service awards. Outstanding among the awards is the one that goes to the senior who has given outstanding service to the school and has received no other recognition. Mrs. McLaughlin and Mr. Stannard advise the committee.

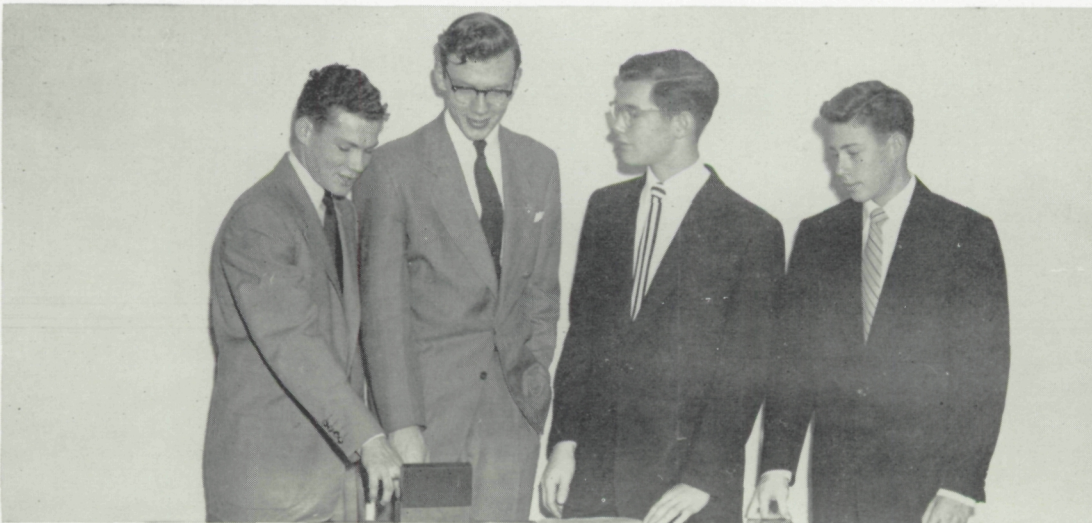

"Guilty or not guilty; that is the question." Any unfortunate student who has received a conduct slip during the week previous to the court session is brought before Student Court. This body is conducted along the lines of regular courts. Members review separately each case that comes before them, giving the "criminal" a chance to present his defense. Often the court requires that offenders make up time after school. Mr. Jones is the adviser.

Outstanding students represent the school.

"Resolved to win many debates," was the resolution of this year's varsity Debate Team, who tied for second-place honors in the Northwest District Debate League, and also in the Northwest District Tournament. Question this year was on the fair employment practices law.

Weeks before the debate league starts, the debaters work on the year's questions and schedule many practice debates. The debate coach is Mr. Miller.

Outstanding students from every high school in the state are given a lasting lesson in citizenship at Girls' and Boys' State by learning the various methods by which our government operates. Nominated by the junior class, the boys and girls are interviewed by a committee from the American Legion who choose three of each as representatives. Boys' State was held at Ellensburg during the first part of July; and Girls' State, the latter part.

Hall "sentinels" preserve law and order.

"You'll have to go to the end of the line and take your turn." Grounds Squad members patrol the cafeteria and school grounds. "Lawbreakers" are given a conduct slip and summoned to the next Student Court session.

It is the Traffic Squad who directs students through the halls between classes. Mr. Malterner advises the two groups who, in a friendly way, preserve law and order.

"Sentinels" of the locker rooms must be hardworking, conscientious, alert, and willing to accept responsibility. Six periods a day, these "sisters" of the hall guards make certain the safety of articles kept in the lockers. Disorder or intrusion of property is prevented when the protectors are on duty. In return for this all-important task, Girls' League points are earned. They also excuse gym classes.

Librarians' helpers have many duties.

As that "delightful" bell in the library rings at the beginning of each period all is suddenly quiet, and we know that it is time to settle down and begin studying.

Much time and effort is expended to keep the library functioning properly; therefore, there are Library Workers. In order to become a Library Worker one must be willing to learn and be efficient. They serve as hostesses, entrance and exit-door monitors, art library monitors, clerical workers, and charging desk assistants.

Gym and ticket office give school service.

Ticket Office Workers, under the direction of Mr. Chandler, receive, count, and record money taken in from sports events, pay convocations, and stage productions.

Miss Rowena Fritchie, school nurse, is at North Central on Tuesday and Thursday of each week. Her office is open each day, however, with a student in charge.

"Towel please, thank you." One of the duties of the Gym Office Workers is the distributing of clean towels to girls after each gym period. They also check attendance daily and keep individual records of every girl taking physical education. They assist Miss Pinkham and Miss Dixon when needed. The gym office "helping hand" maintains a fine program.

Other helpers supervise order, attendance.

"Patrolling" all the convocations, the Con Deputies keep order and attention. Offenders are summoned to student court and given a sentence. New arm bands, made by the home economics department this semester, distinguishes each as a Con Deputy. Mrs. Stockdale supervises the Deputies.

It is the duty of the Roll Checker to account for the presence or absence of all the students enrolled in study hall.

"Errand girls?" No, these Office Monitors do more than just run errands. They collect attendance slips, file cards, and type office material, under the direction of Mrs. Stoner and Miss Shand.

Service, fellowship develop character.

"Your pass, please?" inquires the Hall Guard as he encounters a student going down the hall during class time. Hall Guards, under the direction of Mr. Rodkey, are stationed at strategic points throughout the school to keep order.

Cleaner speech, cleaner character, and cleaner conduct is the objective of each member of Three C's. Membership is unlimited and everyone is welcome. Programs are arranged by the executive council. Miss Collard is adviser.

Clubs increase interest in languages.

"Senatus Populus que Romanus" which translated means, the Senate and the Roman people, is the official name of Latin Club. For initiation, a Roman banquet is generally held and new members, wearing short tunics, are slaves to the older members, garbed in togas. Any Latin student is eligible to join. Miss Theis is adviser.

"Si, si, senior and seniorita!" Any student who is studying Spanish and who has at least a C average is eligible to become a member of Spanish Club. Each month, the club has one business meeting and one social event at which the members create an atmosphere of old Spain. Miss Boehme is adviser.

Book and Chess devotees meet regularly.

"Lover of books" is the meaning of Amores Librorum. This library club was founded 16 years ago by Miss Mary R. Bacon, head librarian. Composed of 30 honor-roll students, members are devoted to promoting greater interest in books. For many of their monthly meetings they invite foreign students as guest speakers. Miss Bacon is the present adviser.

Working hard at developing their powers of concentration, chess enthusiasts meet every Wednesday after school to engage in friendly matches. Purpose of the club is not only to instruct those who want to learn to play the game but also to help those who already play to better their skill. This year, the club has engaged in several tournaments with Gonzaga. Mr. Neuman is the adviser.

Club members must have high standards.

"How to sit on the boss's lap" is not the motto of Commercial Club. Rather creating an interest in commercial subjects is their objective. Any girl majoring or minoring in commercial is eligible to join. Members were responsible for the issuing of typing books, and Christmas and Easter were made happier for a needy family because of the club's thoughtfulness. Club adviser is Mrs. Bowker.

Student journalists who have done outstanding work on The News or Tamarack are eligible to become members of Quill and Scroll. Purpose of this international honor society is to raise the standards in the field of writing and to direct the course of high school journalism. Quill and Scroll pins were awarded to the new members this year at a formal ceremony. Miss McKenna is the club adviser.

Formal ceremonies highlight activities.

"Voice of the Girls" or Vox Puellarum is a social and philanthropic group. Money raised by the members this year has gone toward building a trophy case for the school. The group gives an annual award to the senior girl who has overcome the greatest handicap during her four years in high school. Club advisers are Miss Cleveland and Mrs. McLaughlin.

"Everybody on stage" are familiar words to members of Thespians. To become a member of this Troupe 128 of the National Thespian Society one must participate in plays and other dramatic activities. Purpose of this organization is to create active and intelligent interest in dramatic art among the boys and girls in high school. Mr. Anderson is adviser.

Membership requires talent in the Arts.

To provide entertainment for service and business organizations is the purpose of Tau Chi. They have entertained Parent-Teacher groups, Red Cross, Postal Employees, and Federation of Women's clubs this year. To the March of Dimes convocation, jointly sponsored by Tau Chi and the A. S. B., the club contributed $25. Miss Lauer is adviser.

"Rembrandts of the Future" must have a "B" average in all subjects and be art majors to be eligible to join the Art Club. "Eye Opener Mixer" and "Painting of the Year" contest are annual projects. Promoting interest in the art fields is the objective of the club. Several members have won prizes in various city and state contests. Advisers are Mr. Mhyre and Mr. Biner.

Math, swimming interest club members.

"Two + two = four" is usually known before one enters high school, but it takes much more knowledge of mathematics than that to become a member of the Mathematics Club. Three semesters of at least B grades in math and no grade below C in any other subject is a requirement for membership. One of the annual projects is the math contest, which is open to all students. Club adviser is Mr. Nygaard.

"Left, right, left, right," directs instructor Mrs. Milton from the Red Cross, as she helps the Aquettes learn synchronized swimming fundamentals. Aquettes, who seek to promote skill and interest in swimming, are planning to present a water show. Tryouts are held annually for girls with C grades or above who enjoy swimming and have passed the Red Cross swimmer's test. Advisers are Mrs. Milton and Mrs. Kopf.

Athletic clubs emphasize sportsmanship.

"Them heap big chiefs!" describes members of the letterman's club, the Warriors. A player participating in any sport who has earned a varsity letter is eligible. This organization pledges its members to clean lives and to hard and fair play. Outstanding activities of the club this year have been the football awards banquet and the new time clock for the gym. Mr. Diedrick is their adviser.

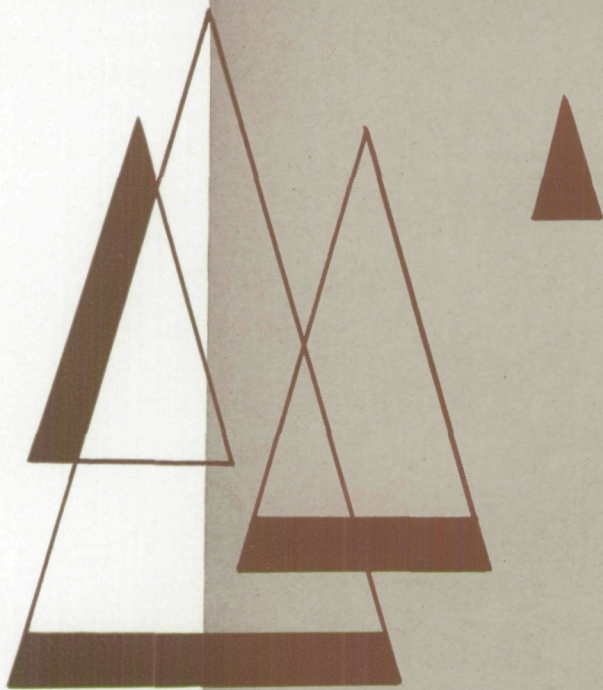

"Wham! Bang! Direct hit!" A direct hit is not unusual for these members of Rifle Club. The club belongs to the National Rifle Association. Each member owns his own gun and must pass a training course. Main activities of the club are directed toward developing safe, skilled marksmen. The group competes in regional matches and receives training and practice in the use of rifles. Mr. Christensen is adviser.

"They'd never believe it!" mused Eldon Berry, the hero of "Green Valley," about the way things had been growing there. And neither did the audience, until they saw alfalfa as tall as a man, strawberries bigger than apples, and vegetables so large a man could hardly carry them.

These were only a few of the surprises that greeted the large audience who came Nov. 19-20 to see "Green Valley," the all-school play written by Frank Wattron and directed by Mrs. Genevieve Oppen, dramatics coach.

Many complications arise in producing a play like "Green Valley"; for in stance, making bean stalks grow right before the eyes of the audience. But all problems were handled extremely well by the production staff and a successful play was the result.

"Green Valley" requires a cast of 31, 18 of whom are boys. The play, which takes place in a California valley, has a complicated set, including real leaves on the trees, a huge rock, and a rustic cabin surrounded by gigantic sunflowers.

Several newcomers to the stage carried leading roles, and the play gave a chance for many to do character parts.

"Everyone was so co-operative, so how could a play like this be anything but a success," said Mrs. Oppen, who directed "Green Valley."

Mrs. Oppen chose this particular play, she revealed, for its variety of ideas and its folksy characters.

The production was received with tremendous applause by the audience and was cited as another outstanding North Central production.

JACK-IN-THE-BOX — Goldie Long

This twelfth biennial, sparkling musical production was presented March 17, 18, and 19 to capacity audiences.

Doll Shop is the creation of Miss Elsa Pinkham, head of the girls' P. E. department, who also directs the cast of 300. Miss Pinkham likes to use as many people in her show as possible and to have boys as well as girls take part. Everyone who tries out and has a sincere desire to work gets a part in the show.

Setting for the 1954 Doll Shop was a large candy house with multicolored hoops hanging from above. It looked just like something from a child's storybook and delighted the youngsters from 6 to 60.

Dolls in the shop ranged from Eskimos from the North Pole to Guatemalan girls from Central America. Goldilocks was there with her friends the bears, as was Snow White and Raggedy Ann and Andy.

leave never-to-be-forgotten memories.

Romance, excitement and a certain freshness prevailed throughout the show with the penguins keeping the "shop" in a continual state of confusion.

Adding a professional touch to the production were the colorful costumes that literally dazzled the eye. Life-size lollipops which looked good enough to eat had the candy lovers drooling.

All marveled at the top-notch dancing. "The Pink Doll," written by C. Olin Rice and dedicated to Miss Pinkham, dances on tinkling toes. Other "Pops" Rice originals were "Toy Troops," "Guatemala Glide," "Penguin Parade," and "Rag Doll Dance."

ESKIMO DOLLS — Pat Barney and Lee Gates

LADY OF SPAIN — Carol Armitage

Mammies and picaninies decked in polka-dot dresses and painted with blackface rolled their eyes and paraded.

L. C. Bradford's special Doll Shop orchestra performed magnificently. Credit for choral director went to Mr. Davis and dramatics to Mrs. Oppen.

Mrs. Beaver's costuming was "the most"; and the set designed by Mr. Mhyre and his art students, and constructed by Mr. Broadwell and his stage crew was fabulous.

The finale, "Oh! You Beautiful Doll," was truly a salute to the beautiful doll responsible for the greatest show at North Central — Miss Elsa Pinkham, "dahling" director de luxe.

Choir presents program for civic affairs.

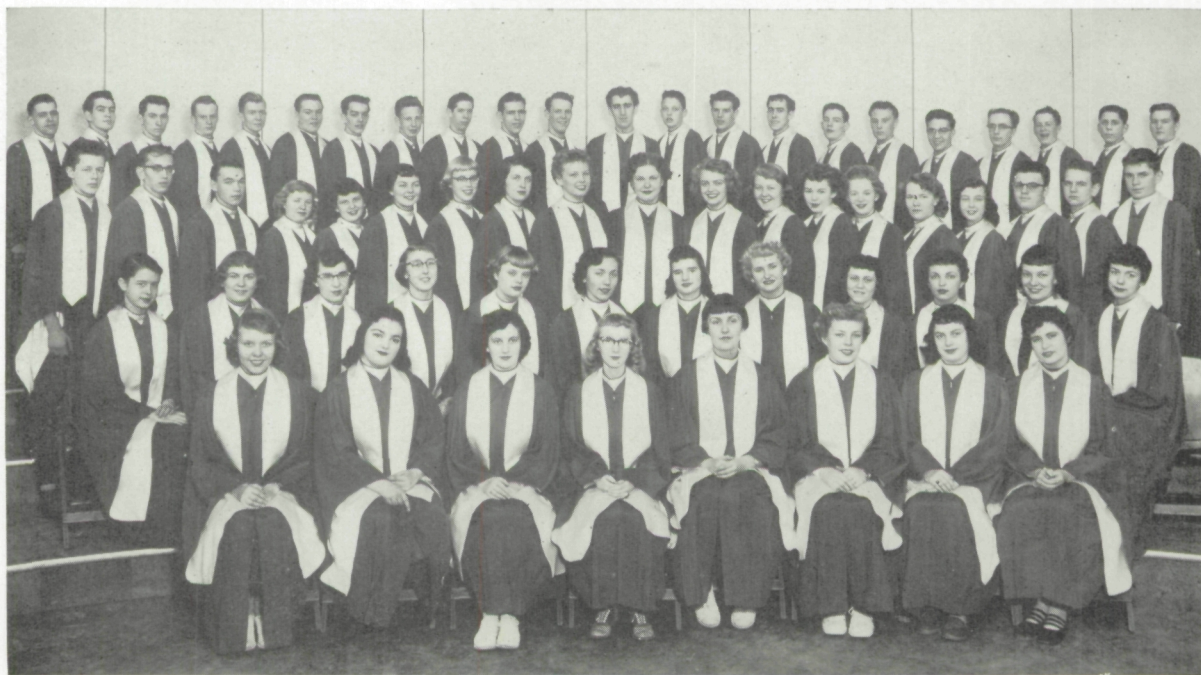

Outstanding performances have been provided for both school and community activities again this year by the various musical groups of North Central. W. Stanley Taft, head of the music department and his student assistant, Pat Hanson, have directed the Choir, Three-Fives, and the Girls' Glee Club through a crowded fall and spring schedule.

Sixty-five voices strong, the Choir, along with the Orchestra, Three-Fives, and Girls' Glee Club, participated in the "Winter Music Festival" in December and the "Spring Music Festival" in May. Both were held in the school auditorium. Programs were presented during the year at several churches — North Hill Christian, St. John's Cathedral, Knox Presbyterian, and Grace Baptist. The group also sang at Whitworth College and the Greater Spokane Music Festival. An annual tradition was carried out at Christmas time when the Choir marched through the school halls singing Christmas carols.

The Three-Fives presented programs for several elementary school PTA meetings, Inland Empire Art Association, KXLY, Fairchild Air Force Base, Veterans' Hospital, the Greater Spokane Music Festival, Eastern Star and both school Music Festivals. They also sang at the Knox Presbyterian Church and St. John's Cathedral.

Girls' Glee Club appeared in the "Winter Music Festival" and "Spring Music Festival" here at school. Pat was the student director for this group this year as well as for the Choir.

"G-u-i-d-e — right!"

The Band, one of the largest in the Northwest, began their marching season with the Merry-Go-Round game in which the Red Feathers presented at half time "Play It With Music." Then came their participation in the crowning of the football princess or the "Bow and Arrow" pageant and the "Battle of the Champions," the stunt presented at half time at the Gonzaga-North Central game.

Salutes to opposing teams, marching demonstrations, representing Texas Christian in a game with WSC, and taking part in the Armistice Day and Lilac parades were other activities of the all-male band.

A band convocation was presented in January and the fifty-fourth annual formal concert in April. Another highlight of the year was their participation in the Washington State Apple Blossom Festival at Wenatchee, April 30-May 1.

Special Band furnished the music for pep convocations, Christmas convocations, basketball games, and some of the members also played in the Doll Shop Orchestra and were in the Pep Band.

Pep Band, under the student leadership of Jim Watson, gave outstanding service to the school by playing at morning dances, school cons, and concerts. Other special activities in which the Pep Band participated were the PTA Vaudeville Show, and a concert at Havermale. About half of Pep members performed in the Doll Shop Orchestra. Fighting B Squad and Freshman teams

The 1953 B squad had its first losing season in four years. The gridgers won two but lost five games in their regular season of league play. Coached by Bill Whitaker and assistant Burrill Exley, the entirely sophomore squad found three-season record of sixteen wins, three losses, and two ties an almost unmatchable one. Several injuries to key men made the final difference.

This season's team, though it lacked an impressive win-loss record, showed size and speed, and, according to Coach Whitaker, "With the experience gained, there is little doubt that this year's varsity will rely strongly upon such names as Ken White, Laurie Ness, Lyle Liptac, Ned Olsen, June Hanford, and Mike Edmunds."

gained experience for years to come.

Frosh Papooses, under Coach Dave Holmes, ended their 1953 season by taking third place in the city freshman league. Double losses to the Gonzaga "Puppies" and the Lewis and Clark "Kittens" spoiled chances for a better record, but large score upsets over the Rogers "Bucs" and the West Valley "Eaglets," earned them their third-place finish.

"Although the squad has not had such an impressive record this season according to wins and losses," said Coach Holmes, commenting on the season, "they have been steadily improving and should turn out to be fine material for next year's B squad."

The Papoose gridders also met the Central Valley Cubs and the Cheney frosh in nonleague play, falling before the former, but defeating the latter.

Warrior gridsters were hard to beat.

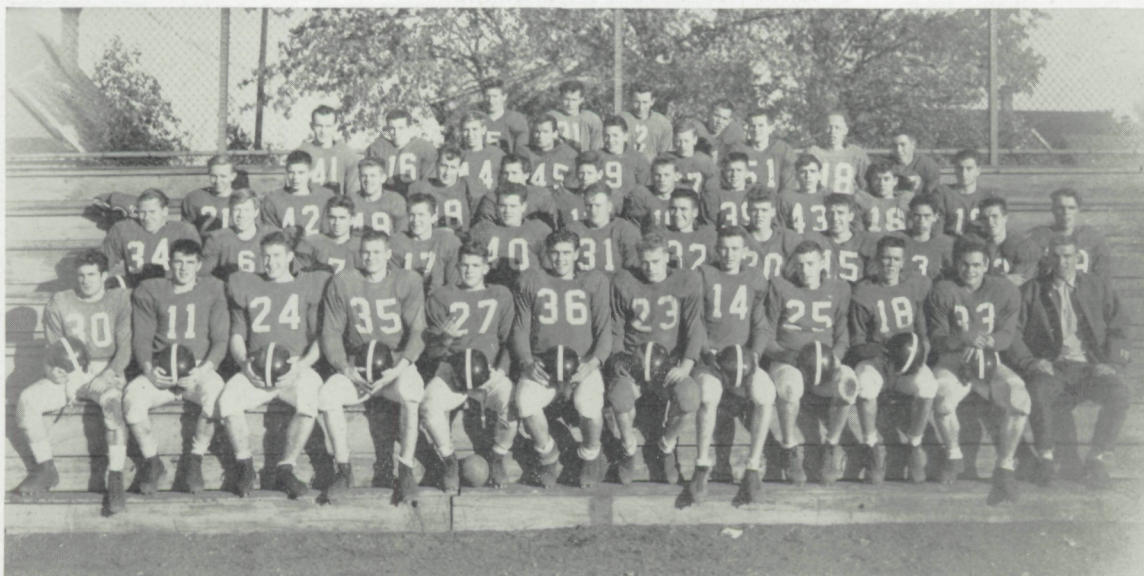

The 1953 Indian football season was the kind most people would consider exceptional. As the final gun sounded, in the last game of the season, there was little doubt but that Coach Jerry Stannard—assisted by Bill Diedrick and Bob Bland—had carved a championship Tribe. All-city football team was dominated by Warriors

Norm Veach, Bob Waite, Mike Reopelle, and Ray Ericksen.

The 16th annual Vic Dessert Merry-Go-Round classic, in the stadium, was a no-score evening for the Indian Tribe. In the first quarter, they fell before the Gonzaga Bullpups, 6 to 0; in the third, they edged the Rogers Pirates by yardage alone, 0-all.

In their first official game of the season, the Tribe bowed to the Bullpups again, after an evening of hard fighting. The score was 31-20.

Two touchdowns in the last twelve minutes gave the extra Pirate points needed to make Rogers victorious in the second game of the season; and bad breaks in the Lewis and Clark game a week later brought defeat from the arch Tiger rivals.

At this point, the Tribesmen hitched their wagon to a victory star. They started Columbia Basin records with a 6-6 tie with Yakima; then they climbed onto the victory bandwagon as, to the tune of "Red and Black," they whipped the Bullpups, 14-7.

A victory parade through the halls key-noted the next event — defeat by 7-6 over the league-leading Rogers Pirates. It was to be the Pirates' only season spill.

The Warriors went on to meet WaHi, and sent the Blue Devils reeling, 18-3—the first time a Spokane team has ever whipped the Devils on their home Borleske field.

Six days later, the Indians again met the Tigers, in a game which would decide final city league standings and determine the wearer of Columbia Basin conference

Receiving top football awards at the close of the season were: George Smith, Buckley inspirational award; Ralph Aspaas, blocking award; Bob Waite, line-man of the year; Norm Veach, tackling award; and Ed Watt, Ecker presentation. Redskin hoopsters place second in city.

After completing half of the city league's double round-robin schedule undefeated, the North Central Indians went down before powerful Gonzaga and West Valley to wind up the 1954 season in possession of second place.

With six returning lettermen, the Braves whipped through 10 preseason hoop tilts with a 7-3 win-loss record. Posting wins over Wapato, Sunnyside, Richland, Walla Walla, Kalispel, Mead, and Wenatchee, the North Centralites became the preseason favorites of city sports reporters to cop the league title.

In the league opener, Gonzaga fell to defeat at the hands of the Redskins, 43-37, before a huge audience at the 161st infantry armory.

Bob Reichert swished the cords for 20 tallies to pace the Tribe in its 55-44 defeat of West Valley's Eagles.

Edging the John Rogers Pirates, 41-37, in a hard-fought battle, the Indians maintained their unblemished league record.

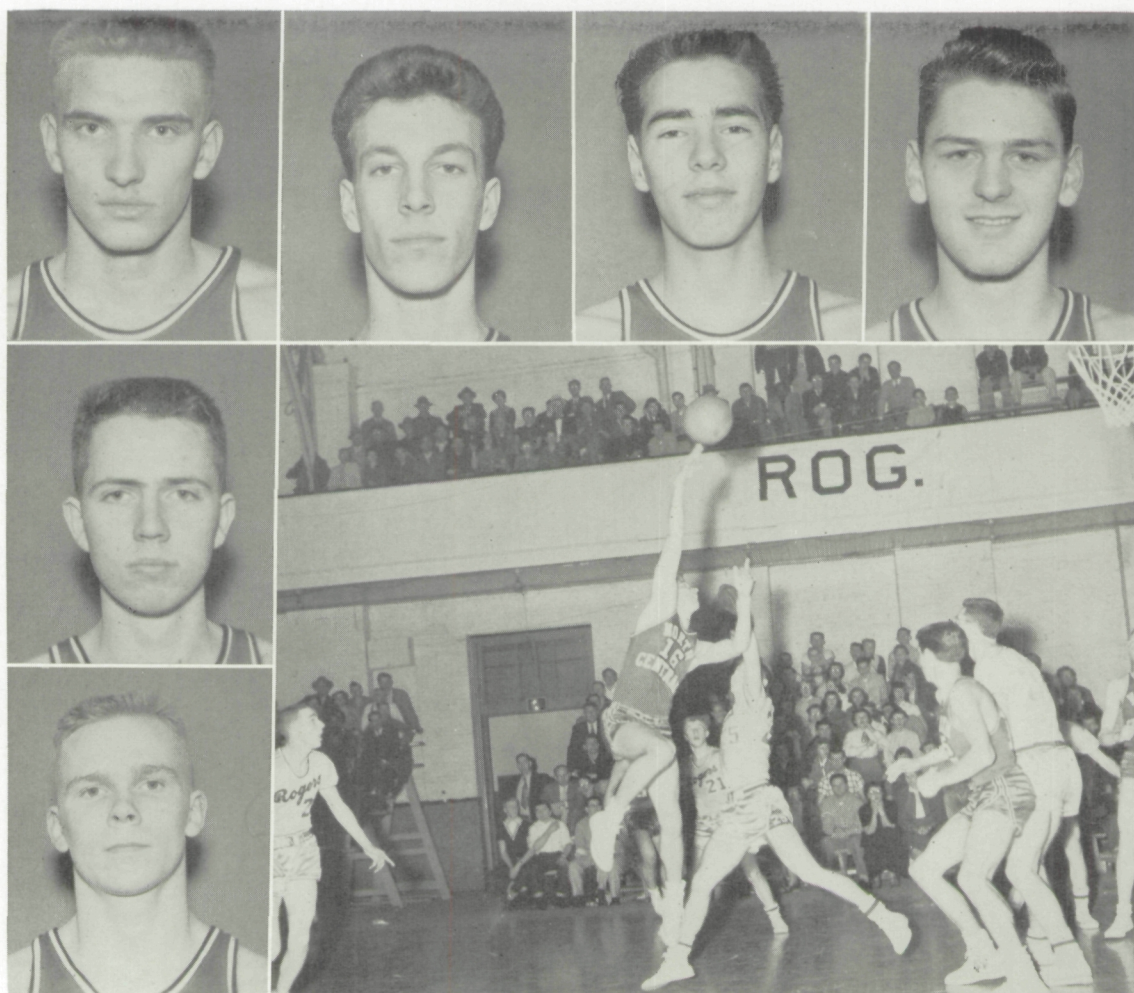

Perry Jordon sparked the Red and Black squad in the contest with 20 counters.

Lewis and Clark's winless Tigers fell victim to the victory-minded North Siders in a 65-47 tilt that wrapped up the Tribe's undefeated record for the first half of the league schedule. North Central came within one point of tying the city league single-game scoring record.

In the first game of the second half, Gonzaga upset the Redskins, then rated No. 1 high school hoop team in the state by an Associated Press sportswriters' poll, in a 55-44 thriller. West Valley slapped the Warriors 53-49 a week later, in a fast-moving ball game to take over the league lead.

Rogers bowed to the Tribe, 55-46, as N. C. fought to remain in contention for the city loop crown and a berth to the state basketball tournament at Seattle.

Meeting a much-improved squad of Lewis and Clark Bengals, the Redskin hoopsters wound up on the long end of a 44-37 score in a see-saw battle. West Valley won its final game against Gonzaga to win the city championship. North Central finished second, just ahead of Gonzaga, Rogers was fourth, and Lewis and Clark stood in fifth.

The year 1954 provided Spokane high schools with several memorable events in basketball — West Valley's Eagles walked away with their third straight city title, Gonzaga threw off its league jinx of two years and won some ball games, and Lewis and Clark suffered its worst season in history by losing all its league tilts.

Bob Reichert, who led team scoring, was selected to receive first-team honors on both the Spokane Daily Chronicle and Spokesman-Review all-city teams. Perry Jordon was named to the Review's first string and the Chronicle's second.

Rod Evans hit 447 shots out of 500 to win the Indians' annual free-throw tournament. Buck Brumblay was second with 410 points.

Ray Ericksen was awarded the Warriors Club captain's trophy at the annual basketball banquet.

"We have certainly enjoyed this season," remarked Coach Jerry Stannard, who is completing his fourth year as varsity basketball mentor for the Red and Black. "I think everyone who attended one of our games got a real thrill from watching the boys play.

"If winning were the most important part of the game," reasoned the Tribe boss, "basketball wouldn't be the bright picture it is now. At the start of this season, over 300 teams started out with one objective—the basketball championship of the State of Washington. Somewhere along the line, all but one dropped out."

Next year when Central Valley re-enters the city loop, triple-header ball games will be staged in the Spokane Coliseum.

B squad edged out for city crown.

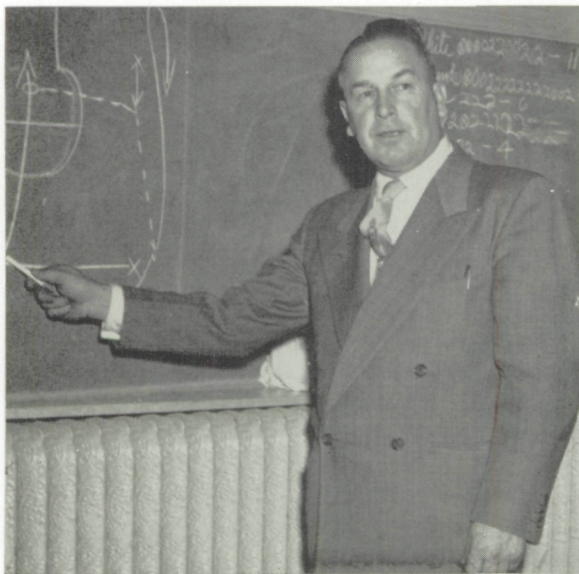

Although their late-season bid for first place was stopped short by the Rogers Pirates, next year's varsity aspirants showed that they had the ability to keep fighting, as the Bees had to be content with third place.

Starting off play with two straight losses, the B Squadders took hold, coming back with five wins. Following a 48-43 loss to the Bucs, the Indians retaliated with four wins, but the Rogers game, coupled with three other defeats, shelved them in third place.

"It's a good team," remarked Coach "Nip" Hagen proudly, "and I am sure they will do a fine job on Coach Stannard's varsity."

Seeing action on the squad were: Bob Beil, By Warriner, Alan Crisp, Bill Kroske, Bob Thomas, Carl Hubbell, Mike Edmonds, Laurie Ness, Chuck Wilkes, Mike Tye, and Curtis Pearson.

Frosh cagers wind up successful season.

In winding up their season, Coach Lowry Bennett's frosh hoopsters left little doubt as to the championship caliber of their team, even though they didn't cop first place.

The frosh, after losing seven of their first eight games, came back to win six straight, giving the other league occupants quite a scare.

Mr. Bennett declared that they had shown a spirit seldom seen in a high school squad, and that he was sure they would be an asset to the future N. C. varsities.

Bill Bruce, manager; Lowry Bennett, coach.

The smile on the face of Coach Al Danielson is well justified by the brilliant prospects for next fall.

Placing second in the city cross-country league, Coach Al Danielson's Redskin harriers completed a successful 1953 season.

Rogers and Richland fell before the Tribe runners, but perennially strong Lewis and Clark defeated the Braves to win the city title. North Central finished third out of ten competing squads in the Amateur Athletic Union meet at Comstock Park.

Alan Robinson, Dick Haunschild, and John McNee proved themselves to be brilliant prospects for the team next fall. Tommy Moore, Gene Keevy, and Don Newland, graduating seniors, are outstanding lettermen who will be sorely missed next season.

Placing second in the N. C. relays, sponsored by Warriors, and fifth in the American Legion Moses Lake relay meet highlighted the opening weeks of the Red-skin track and field squad's preseason schedule.

In the North Central relays, the Indian cindermen finished second to Lewis and Clark's powerful Tiger team. K. Norman, Don Nyberg, John McNee, and Gary Smith set a new record at Moses Lake with their 9:04 mark in the two-mile relay.

At the start of the season, Coach Al Danielson was counting heavily on the increased depth of this squad over that of last year, but expected about the same kind of season as the previous one.

"Lewis and Clark will be the team to beat," remarked the Indian mentor. "Rogers will be plenty tough, too, and we are looking forward to an exciting season."

Tamarack press deadlines do not permit coverage of city league events.

Indian diamondmen aim for '54 pennant.

Bolstered by six returning lettermen and a horde of players up from B and frosh squads, the outlook for a league pennant this season looks good as the Tamarack goes to press.

Although there are no returning infielders, this does not seem to bother Coach Al Manfred, for the slack is well filled by Bob Lightfoot, Jim Backman, Ken Wittenburg, and Larry Reid.

Unlike the inner grass, the "cow pasture" sports two veterans, Ralph Aspaas and Wally Woodard, to inflict on enemy pitching staffs.

Backing up these hardy fellows, we find Dick Lightfoot, Doug Davis, and Don Smith patrolling the fences in quest of fly balls.

In preseason contests the Tribe made a good show, splitting a two-game series with Lewiston, and taking two from Central Valley.

The league opener found the Redskins playing the happy host to the Gonzaga Bulldogs, but their smiles changed to sighs as the Pups walked away with the win, 5 to 0. Piling up two runs in a wild first inning, the Zags withstood several N. C. drives, adding three more runs in the seventh, to down the hard-fighting Warriors.

Proving as bad, if not worse, the second league start saw the Rogers Pirates doing the honors, 14 to 1, on "one of those days" for the Tribesmen.

"Not having much experience, the boys are a little flighty; but after a few games they should settle down," declared Coach Manfred. "It is one of the best all-around teams I have ever coached, though the pitching leaves something to be desired."

"Just Dusting Off the Plate"

Baseball outlook pleasing to coaches.

With three of last year's pitching staff back, Walt Lobdell, Gene Keivy, and Gordy Recor, and the addition of Norm Nickerson and Arlen Weberling, N. C. mounders are sure to provide several wins this year.

Larry Fisher, veteran catcher, is back again this season with Laurie Ness ready to fill out the spot when needed.

"It is a tough league," declared Coach Manfred, "with our main attention centered on the teams from Gonzaga and Rogers, but I am ready to say after watching the boys that we will be a hard team to beat."

"We have a good all-around squad," he added, "and the boys are looking forward to lifting the scalps of several opponents."

Coach Don Bonamy's golf team, with only two lettermen this year, has been developing from several sophomore and junior prospects.

Jim Hanley and Allan Holman, lettermen, back for their third season with the Indians, have proved tough customers for any of the opposing golfers as in tournament play they have consistently been within a few strokes of par.

Among the sophomore and junior prospects who are in there pitching as this Tamarack goes to press are Terry Livengood, Ron Meyer, Dean Edwards, and Tom Anderson. They have been carding low 80's to make the golf team strong potential in the city.

Results of the first match this season pitted North Central against Rogers in which the score put North Central on top.

Highlights have been the boys' and girls' mixed two-ball tourney and Inland Empire high school golf tourney.

Relying heavily upon four lettermen — Bud Blackwell, Les Rider, Larry Sleizer, and Ed Unicume — Coach Ernest Hix's varsity tennis team played hard and well throughout the entire season.

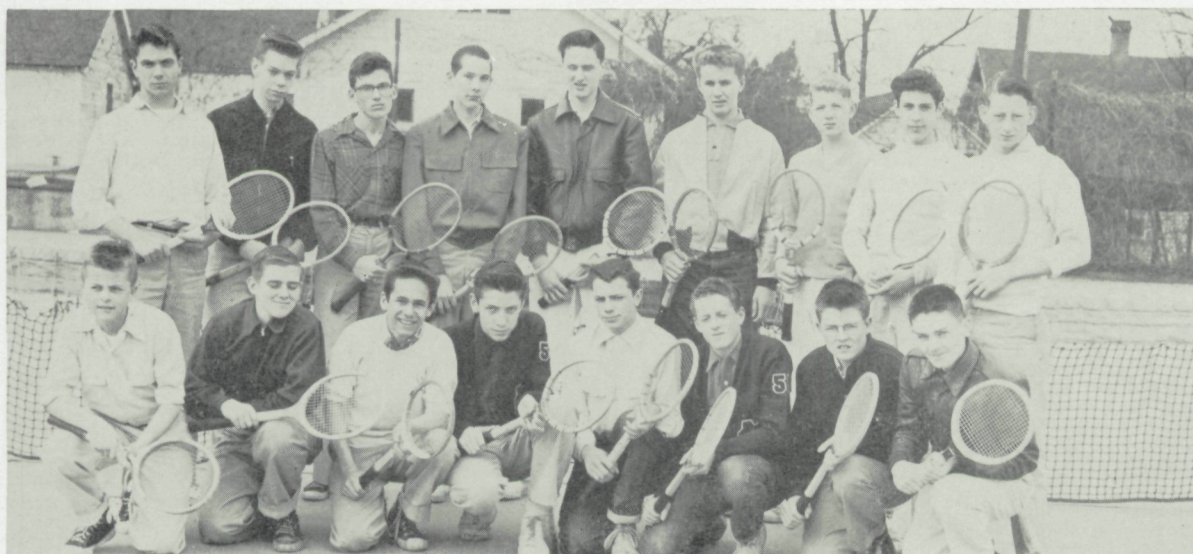

Included in their season's contests were two meets with fellow netsters from Rogers, Gonzaga, and Lewis and Clark; and one each with Central Valley and West Valley. An Inland Empire championship tournament annually closes the season, as teams throughout the Inland Empire match their skills.

"Although the tough defending champions, the Rogers Pirates, have a good deal of experienced talent and seemed headed for city championship," commented Coach Hix at the beginning of the season, "we feel confident of doing a good job."

Unique uniforms and striking performances have made Red Feathers, a group of over one hundred junior and senior girls directed by Miss Elsa Pinkham, an outstanding unit in the city as well as at North Central.

The group was organized with 18 girls by its present director in 1938, and chose "Red Feathers" as the name for their unit. Red Feathers is not only representative of the North Central Indians, but also of Spokane.

Their outstanding performances in football half-time stunts, their participation in parades, and their active support of the year-around sports program have given the Red Feathers a position of prominence in the city.

Seniors in the unit are candidates each year for fall football princess and spring sports princess. Color Guards and Song Leaders introduce the candidates in annual Candidates are chosen by a group composed of Miss Pinkham and the Red Feather officers.

Promoting school spirit, cheering, singing, and adding color, pep, and zest to all North Central's affairs is the purpose of Color Girls, the second largest marching unit in the school. Miss Eleanor Dixon, assistant director of the girls' physical education department, is the adviser.

Color Girls was organized in 1930 with a nucleus of 20 freshman and sophomore girls under the direction of Miss Bertha Boehme who was their first adviser. Mrs. Gladys Dunphy was also adviser for several years.

The name Color Girls accurately describes their organization, now numbering over 80. The girls promote school spirit, support ticket sales, march in parades, and sometimes take part in the football half-time stunts.

as they sit together in the stands or march together on the field.

On game days, the girls add color to the school by wearing their striking uniforms. Throughout Color week, sponsored by the A. S. B., the group took their traditional part in making it a success by wearing their uniforms every day.

Each semester the officers and Miss Dixon compose the group which selects new Color Girls by judging them at tryouts. Freshman and sophomore girls who have been active in the girls' physical education department and who have C grades or better are eligible to join. Applicants must turn in applications and show their marching and dancing ability at the tryouts held each spring and fall.

Officers are elected each semester from among the sophomore members of the group.

Karol Woodbury and Joy Baertsch were tennis managers for both semesters.

For the sixth straight season, the girls' tennis team, coached by Miss Elsa Pinkham, head of the girls' physical education department, has smashed, lobbed, and driven their way to the city championship title.

The girls practiced every Monday and Wednesday during period six and after school. Scores of practice sets were kept on file, and players were ranked according to these records.

Ten singles and five doubles matches were played with each of the four schools — Lewis and Clark, Rogers, West Valley, and Central Valley.

Elise Scott and Marlene McDonald were co-captains of the team for the fall semester; manager was Joy Baertsch; and Papoose manager, Karol Woodbury.

Co-captains for the spring semester were Billye Wing and Nancy Roberts. Manager was Joy Baertsch and Karol Woodbury as Papoose manager.

Swinging their way to a tie with Lewis and Clark for the city golf title this year highlighted the activity of the North Central girls who turned out for golf. Miss Wilhelmine Timm coached the group.

Every Tuesday and Thursday, period six and after school, the girls traveled to Downriver golf course, either to try their hand at playing or for a golf lesson from Neil Christian, pro instructor.

Intramural tournaments were held during both golf seasons, with the girls competing against each other. Players were ranked according to the outcome of these matches. Every girl had to play at least 18 holes a week.

Fall captain of the golf team was Joy Baertsch, and Nancy Roberts was the fall manager. Judy Evans captained the spring team, and Carol Mather was manager.

Under the direction of Miss Eleanor Dixon, girls' volleyball teams played over 30 games throughout the season which opened February 2.

Eilene West, Virginia Bishop, and Erna Wilson assisted Miss Dixon in managing the tournament by refereeing and keeping scores. The 170 girls were divided into six teams each playing five games. Team V, captained by Agnes Tollefson, captured first place in the tournament, with a total of five wins and no defeats. Other team captains were Roberta Joyner, Maggie Karn, Nancy Batton, Inara Lauva, and Elise Scott.

Miss Edith Carlson, cadet from Washington State College, assisted Miss Dixon with the tournament games which were played Tuesdays and Thursdays after school in the old gym.

Arlene West and Sharon Syler managed both doubles and singles divisions.

Sixty-four girls turned out this spring for badminton doubles, directed by Miss Eleanor Dixon, assistant head of the girls' P. E. department.

Fifteen-minute games were scheduled before and after school on Tuesdays and Thursdays. In the finals, regulation games were played, the girls having to win two out of three sets.

Clara Sonderen and Sally Smith captured the doubles title, with Karen Randall and Gail Zehm as consolation winners.

Two separate tournaments were played in the singles division, with 48 girls turning out to play Tuesdays and Thursdays in the old gym. Jean Rollo and Nedra Ellis won the singles crown, while Clara Sonderen and Peggy Moore were consolation winners.

Arlene West and Sharon Syler assisted Miss Dixon by managing both the doubles and singles tournaments.

Perfecting numerous strokes and taking Red Cross swim tests were the activities of the girls' after-school swimming group directed by Miss Eleanor Dixon.

Advanced swimmers and beginners alike were urged to turn out and learn the principal rules for a "top swimmer." Free swims, races, and Red Cross tests highlighted an afternoon of swimming for over 40 girls who turned out every Monday throughout the school year. Gym make-ups and all-activity points were given to girls who took part in this after-school sport regularly.

Miss Barbara Simpson, cadet from Washington State College, took charge of the swim group as a part of her cadet work. Eilene and Arlene West were co-chairmen.

"If we don't win it's a shame . . ."

Beginning in April, softball enthusiasts met Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 7:30 to have good, clean fun playing softball. Miss Eleanor Dixon was assisted by managers, Sharon Neuman, Judie Merica, and Sonja Bowker during the season. Over a hundred girls participated keeping three diamonds alive with action each morning.

Practice beforehand in the gym classes helped encourage girls to participate in the annual girls' track meet May 26. Basketball throw for distance, 370-yard run, 370-yard four-man relay, shot-put, broad jump, high jump, 50 and 75-yard dashes, and the baseball throw were included in the meet. Nicki Selivanoff was manager.

Twenty girls enjoyed horseback riding Monday and Wednesday afternoons. Miss Dixon drove them out to Seven Mile Riding Stables in the Indian wagon.

"Ice skates? Period six free? Let's go skating. And it's off to the ice arena every Wednesday for the girls filling these qualifications. Miss Timm and Miss Pinkham are the directors.

For the 20 girls who participated in ice skating, class began this year as soon as the arena opened in the fall and terminated with the closing of it in March.

The skaters learned forward and backward circus steps, three turn, inside mohawks, spirals, two-foot spin, outside and inside forward rolls, figure eight, pivots and the Dutch waltz. Miss Timm taught them jumps.

Points were given for attendance and tests. Gym make-ups earned for skating could be substituted for one gym day a week.

Ice skating managers this year were Connie Solseng and Eileen Johnson. Miss Pinkham, Miss Timm, and Miss Allison provided transportation to the arena.

Manager for the semester was Connie Solseng.

Dear Miss Damon,

I know that the following has been said to you many times but it certainly applies. Best wishes and all the love and luck in the world to you, for you are the best teacher I ever had.

I know that it was your influence that has kept me on the right track and your constant help that has helped my grades.

Well, I guess that all for now other than to say you've been about as close to me as my mother was and if you don't mind I'd like to think of you as my second mother.
